NARCISSI—DAFFODILS

The producing of the Highest Quality Forcing Bulbs is no longer an experiment with us, for we have been supplying the trade with daffodil bulbs for the last ten years with the very best of results. We find that in our contacts with the forcing trade, there usually exists a shortage of good stock during the period following the Christmas Holidays. Daffodil bulbs grown in our section will produce a maximum of bloom from January 1 on or during a period when the grower is able to realize a good profit on his investment.

IRIS

The Dutch Iris is of recent origin and has in a few years won international recognition. The flowers are not only superior in substance, brilliancy and purity of color, but also earlier, larger and of greater refinement than the old Spanish Iris.

These Iris are unsurpassed as cut flowers, as they will stand any amount of handling and traveling, while their earliness and good forcing habits make them valuable for the commercial grower and florist.

There hardiness and large color range have made them very popular for garden purposes, and though in extreme climates they need some protection, they seem to do quite well in the northern sections of our country.
